

REMARKS

A few amendments have been made to the specification, where necessary, to provide accuracy.

Four (4) new independent claims (7, 16, 17, and 18) have been added in order to obtain adequate protection of the invention. Each of the four (4) independent claims contains, as an element thereof, the aperture in the outlet cover to receive the support member (pillar), since it is apparent from the file history that this was the feature which prompted passage of the original application to allowance.

Respectfully submitted,
